

Green Class thought about how you would feel if you

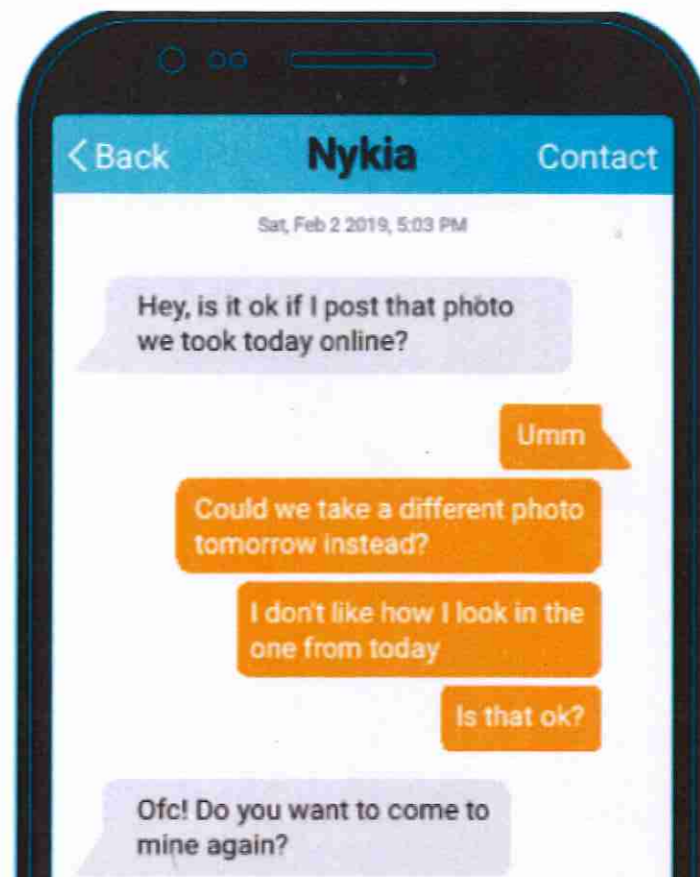

- A - gave permission without really wanting to
- B - shouted at your friend for asking for permission
- C - thanking someone for asking permission and suggesting a different option

How are the two friends feeling now?
Can you use emoji to show this?

How are the two friends feeling now?
Can you use emoji to show this?

How are the two friends feeling now?
Can you use emoji to show this?

Remember:

- If someone online asks permission to do something which makes you feel upset or uncomfortable, then you can ALWAYS say no.
- Saying no doesn't have to be rude. You can say no and still be a kind and respectful online friend.
- If you're ever talking to someone who won't take no for an answer, speak to an adult you trust - like a parent, carer or teacher for more help.